Customer Reviews

I used it with gps and and Navigation programs exclusively from San Diego to Cabo. I was able to find anchorages for a good nights sleep all but one night. That night was with winds of approximately 50 knots. Heaved to, put my chute out and still got a good nights sleep. The information is old but the anchorage possibilities haven't changed. Will be using it again on my next trip down. There is a lot of good nice to know information, that has nothing to do with cruising, about the interior and the history of the Baja.
