Recently, through .com, I have become aware of a phenomenon called mind-control. After reading about it in "Acid Dreams" by Martin Lee, I knew that the American Government and the CIA coercively tested people with mind-controlling substances such as LSD. I knew of it, but hadn't really thought about it. I would come to learn through reading this book (and others) that this phenomenon did not begin in the US, but rather in Nazi Germany during World War II. People placed in concentration camps under the Nazi regime were used for scientific "experiments" by doctors, including the infamous Josef Mengele. After the war, many Nazis escaped to the United States through the help of rich and powerful British and Americans. At the height of the cold war, America was in competition with Russia regarding technological advancement. Russian Soviets began testing their people with mind-control techniques. When the American government learned of this, they did everything in their power to be one step ahead of the Soviets and began their own mind-control tests - by, among others, the Nazi scientists who were "invited" to America. What were the results of these tests? Who were the people that were being tested with mind-control? What happened to them? Moreover, are there mind-control tests still being conducted today? By whom? Why? You will find all the answers in this book. And it is shocking and disturbing. The purpose of this book is NOT to illicit human emotions, but rather to tell the truth - relying on factual evidence. It is not science fiction; it is reality. And the real world is very scary. The proposed "New World Order" is even scarier. Jim Keith spells it all out thoroughly in each chapter. This is a highly informative and well-researched book .
